ABOUT ME

I am a self-taught Data Analyst living in Los Angeles, CA.

My background is in Textile Design and Teaching which enabled me to develop soft skills such as communication, problem solving, critical thinking, patience and building trust in professional relationships.

I am from Mexico but lived in Stockholm, Sweden the past 5 years years, which helped me to enforce my ability to adapt and tackle unexpected problems. Now my home is in Los Angeles and excited to discover new challenges in the area.

Currently looking for Junior roles in Data Analytics (remote or hybrid), seeking to leverage skills and experience to guide business decisions. Also improving my skills on SQL, Tableau and Python. Posting my projects constantly on my webpage.
